

Thanksgiving Day Spiritual Fast

Thursday, November 22, 1990
West Steps of Colorado State Capitol
Sunrise to Sunset

Various Native American Indian groups and individuals invite the Colorado community to join them on Thanksgiving Day for a day of interfaith spiritual fasting and contemplation.

Special attention will be given to recent attacks by the U.S. Supreme Court on American Indian Religious Freedom, and the implications of recent court decisions on all spiritual beliefs.

All faiths and denominations are welcome, and participants are encouraged to donate the money that they would spend on Thanksgiving dinner to the American Indian Emergency Fund, to assist Indians in Denver in crisis situations.

Sponsored by:

American Indian Movement of Colorado
Denver Indian Center
White Buffalo Council of American Indians
Living Waters Church
Sundancers of Colorado
Big Mountain Support Group of Colorado
Native American Ministry of Presence
Making Waves
